

2018 HOLLE AWARD FOR EXCELLENCE IN PUBLIC SPEAKING

April 28, 2018

9:30 a.m. Preliminary Rounds

11:30 Semi-Final Rounds

2 p.m. Final Round

$10,000 PRIZE

COMPETITION GUIDELINES

The University of Alabama's Public Speaking Program is hosting the annual Holle Award for Excellence in Public Speaking competition. Public Speaking is offered as a general education humanities course, serving the entire university population in the cultivation of basic public communication skills.

The Holle Award is open to those students who have been enrolled in a public speaking course during the 2017-2018 academic year and have been nominated by instructors as eligible to compete. Any college or university in the state is encouraged to nominate a maximum of two students, per institution, for the competition. Please submit applications with student names and institution. Students who are currently receiving scholarships or funding for college speech and debate activities are barred from entering this competition.

Those participating in the competition will be required to present a formal persuasive speech that demonstrates logical structure and credible research, in support of specific actions or concepts, and that displays exemplary standards of delivery. All contestants will compete in a preliminary judging round. Twelve participants will advance to the semi-final round, and then six finalists will compete in the final round for the grand prize.

REQUIREMENTS FOR SPEECH COMPETITION

- The speech entered for the competition must be an original speech developed by the contestant.
- The chief aim of the speech must be to persuade the audience regarding a specific action, policy, or value.
- The speech presentation must meet the time limit, 8-10 minutes

JUDGING CRITERIA

The competition criteria are standards that should be covered in courses on public speaking, including the following:

- A clearly developed introduction
- Evidence of developed persuasive appeals
- Effective organization of ideas throughout the presentation
- Appropriate citation of at least six sources
- Evidence of appropriate audience analysis throughout the speech
- Inclusion of a solution
- An appropriate, effective conclusion
- Appropriate language use and nonverbal manner of presentation throughout
- Cultivation of professional ethos through effective face, hand, and body movement

 If nominated and plan to participate, participants must enroll in the online portal found on the Communication and Information Sciences website.

<https://cis.ua.edu/current-students/holle-awards/>

Participants check-in at 9:00 a.m., in the Rotunda, Reese Phifer Hall.
Final round will be held in Room 216, Reese Phifer Hall, at 2:00 p.m.