

It is time to submit proposals for the Mark Nelson Leadership Development Awards

When is the Deadline? End of February

Who Can Apply? Individuals and Groups in our College

What Can the Award be used for?

- Leadership Development Activities that impact the entire college. Preference will be given to activities that impact the largest amount of people in our college.
- Seed money for fund-raising projects for leadership organizations.
- Individual student trips for professional growth are considered very valuable but may not fit under this category unless there is an opportunity for the student to bring back information related to communication professions or leadership development and share it with students in our college.
- Activities that do not fit under this award may be supported by other college funds. Consider contacting our development office for more information on these possibilities.
- Funds are limited and thus they will likely only cover a portion of most expenses.
- Funds are delivered in the form of reimbursement for receipts after the related expense.

Where do I turn in my letter of explanation and request? The front desk of Tisch Student Services.
